

FOOD ENVIRONMENTS: A Shared Understanding

Many environmental factors influence what food lands on our plate.

Malnourishment and diet-related diseases are about more than just producing and providing food.

A food environments approach can help better deliver nutrition to the table, across the globe.

We invite you to discuss key themes from around the world on improving food environments.

SESSIONS:

1. Improving nutrition security through enhanced food environments
2. Incorporating social and environmental sustainability into food environments
3. Bridging gaps between policy and implementation in food environments
